

EUA

The EUA (European University Association) represents institutes of higher education and the Conferences of Rectors of 46 European countries. It can therefore be considered as the most representative voice of European higher education. It is a point of reference and support to its members regarding the development of cooperation and keeps them up to date on the latest higher education and research policies.

The EUA plays a fundamental role in defining the future of higher education and research, through its particular and specific knowledge of the sector, and its main aim is to strengthen the role of universities in the European Higher Education Area (EHEA) and European Research Area (ERA) and thus influence political debate and development of projects.

It is also committed to realizing projects on key topics to improve the quality and strengthen the individual profiles of European universities and to contribute to the development of European higher education. It achieves this by providing members with services at both European and international level.
